

Study Skills Books

Some book suggestions— see www.swims.nhs.uk for more choices

A beginner's guide to critical thinking and writing in health and social care (2011)

Aveyard, Helen; Sharp, Pamela; Woolliams, Mary

Skills for nursing and healthcare students : study skills, maths and science (2nd ed) (2011)

Garrett, Lori K.; Clarke, Ailsa; Shihab, Pearl

Study skills connected : using technology to support your studies (2012)

Cottrell, Stella; Morris, Neil

Succeeding with your literature review : a handbook for students (2012)

Oliver, Paul

Doing your research project : a guide for first-time researchers in education, health and social science (5th ed) (2010)

Bell, Judith

Or ask your Knowledge Support Librarian for help

Study Skills Resource Guide

Some resources to provide you with skills or to refresh your skills for all levels of learning. Your university or college will be able to give you specific guidance and you can always ask your Healthcare Library. Find details at <http://www.hantshealthcarelibrary.nhs.uk/libraries.asp>

OpenLearn

The home of free learning from The Open University provides educational resources and includes samples from its degree courses. Study skills courses are available such as Living with the internet: learning online; Reading evidence; Key skills - making a difference. See <http://www.open.edu/openlearn/>

Virtual Training Suite

A set of free Internet tutorials to help you develop internet research skills for your course. Subjects covered include Allied health /Business and management / Dentistry and oral health /Health and social care / /Medicine /Nursing /Pharmacy / Psychology . See <http://www.vtstutorials.co.uk/>

LearnHigher

Whether you're new to university or you've been there a while, LearnHigher can help you to make the most of the experience. Its resources are freely available to all. Topics include critical thinking and reflection, referencing, numeracy maths and stats. See <http://learnhigher.ac.uk/Students.html>